Petition For 48-Hour Week

The 48-hour week - long a major goal of local firefighters - is the subject of a vigorous campaign this year.

In a two-pronged effort to obtain the goal, firefighters have asked the Town Employees' Association salary committee to negotiate with the town manager, and meanwhile to get enough signatures on a petition to assure placing the question on the ballot.

The latter step would not be needed, of course, if Town Manager Thomas E. Duff agrees to recommend 48 hours, when the subject comes up at town meeting.

The department presently works 56 hours, and is the only fire department in the Merrimack Valley on that schedule. Lt. Raymond LaRosa, chairman of the committee, notes that every full-time department from Chelmsford to the ocean is working less than 56 hours.

Adopting the schedule here would mean at least six new men for the department, it was noted.

Conflict Of Interest Laws Described

Conflict of interest - a subject that has plagued many town boards already - came home to School Committee members last week. Town Counsel Fredric S. O'Brien reviewed the law once again, and pointed out various situations in which members might find themselves in difficulties.

For example, he suggested that John S. Sullivan should absent himself whenever school bond issues are discussed, because the bank of which he is a vice president might bid on the bonds or in some way take part in the financing of them.

Member William Doherty was advised to leave the meeting when insurance is discussed - he is in the insurance business locally. Atty. O'Brien, while not singling those two members out specially, suggested that having the records show that a member left the room when possible areas of conflict arise could be an important item. He also noted that members who

"Super-Maximum" Payment Is Suggested For Exceptional Teacher

The "super-maximum" plan adopted at the School Committee meeting Dec. 18 may be short-lived, or it may find its way into the 1963 schedule.

In fact, the apparent reason why a majority of the Committee voted for it last week is to keep the subject alive for further debate.

Member John S. Sullivan proposed adoption, and Dr. Milton J. Meyers joined in, with a second. It took the vote of Chairman Robert McIntyre to break the tie, when members Vincent P. Davey and William Doherty opposed the action.

What Is It?
In effect, the "super-maximum" is a merit plan.

The motion specified that $300 should be paid, for "exceptional"; and in another place "outstanding" teachers.

The superintendent would recommend the teachers for this payment, which is to be based on classroom work.

Those teachers who have completed 11 years of experience will be eligible, whether they are on the bachelor's master's, master's-plus-30 or the doctor's track.

Only 20 percent of the teachers eligible may have the payment, however.

The payments will be made only year-to-year, and will be subject, thusly, to review. A teacher could lose the extra money if performance decreased.

Mr. Sullivan, in proposing the plan, said it will cost an estimated $1,400 in 1963.

He believes that the administration can select the exceptional teachers.

To keep the plan selective, and to avoid the problem of paying merit funds to many teachers, he suggested that the 20 percent maximum figure be established.

This would, according to discussion at the meeting last week, mean a maximum of 12 or 13 teachers could be selected.

Only resignations, retirements or an increase in the base figure on which the percentage is based will allow more teachers to receive the payment.

Meet Tonight On Renewal

Merchants will be told tonight whether they can afford to be for Urban Renewal.

A full-fledged meeting has been called for 7:15 at the Library, to go over all of the financial aspects of the vast undertaking.

And after this session, it is anticipated that the town's Main st. businessmen, and others located in the community, will have a chance to participate in the formation of a realty trust to re-develop the area.

Calling the meeting tonight are members of a sub-committee appointed at a similar merchants session many weeks ago. Members were told to find out all they can about Urban Renewal re-development, and report back.

Those attending the meeting will

Duff Did Well In Predictions

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff came within an inch of making all his predictions for 1962 come true.

In reviewing the year, it's interesting to note that the town manager listed six major projects for the year just ending:

Industrial development, Urban Renewal, Rogers Brook reconstruction, refuse and garbage disposal, expansion of recreation areas, planning for public building construction.

The first item obviously has received little attention from those who count most in this field - the business firms who must express an interest in locating here.

But otherwise, there has been considerable action on all fronts.

Urban Renewal has been a continuing source of interest and debate, although a conclusion has not

FOOD FACTS As Seen In "Life"

A recent issue of Life magazine brought out the following facts revealing the unique role that food plays in creating our abundant way of life:

- Of all the food products available to the housewife today, two-thirds did not exist ten years ago.
- The average American family spends only 20% of its income on food, compared to 67% one hundred years ago. The Russian family today spends 60%.
- In the past 10 years the price of hamburger in the U. S. has dropped 11¢ a pound, butter is 9¢ cheaper, chicken 22¢, coffee 16¢.
- The American husband can save $1.80 a day by persuading his wife to fix the family's meals from raw ingredients. She will have to stay in the kitchen four hours longer to do it.

Because nowhere else in the world does our food cost so small a share of your income, no where else is so large a share of our income available for the other good things in life.

Law Of Perverse Opposites Will Be With Us Through 1963

January is a good time to think about the law of perverse opposites - or, as it is known to most laymen, Gumperson's law.

It will refresh your understanding of the universe and steel you for the year ahead, a year that is not going to be any better than the last one, as you know perfectly well. Why not? Gumperson's law is still unrepealed.

For those of you who are unaware, Gumperson's law neatly explains a number of irritating events that might otherwise be put down to mere chance. It is Gumperson's law, for example, that causes good grass to grow in the cracks of concrete sidewalks but not on your lawn.

It accounts, too, for the fact that you can throw a burnt match out the window of your car and start a forest fire while you can use two boxes of matches and a whole edition of the Sunday paper without being able to start a fire under the dry logs in your fireplace.

The law, stated simply, is that the contradictory of a welcome probability will assert itself whenever such an eventuality is likely to be most frustrating. Readers familiar with these matters will perhaps recognize another version of the law: The outcome of a given desired probability will be inverse to the degree of desirability.

A brief elucidation of the law, with details on its origin and development, is presented herewith for the benefit of the lay reader.

Dr. R. F. Gumperson, internationally famous divicist, began serious work in 1938 on a phenomenon long known to scientists but up until then considered as a mere curiosity. This was the fact that the forecasting record of the weather bureau, despite its use of the most advanced equipment and highly trained personnel, was as good as that of The Old Farmer's Almanac. After four years of research, Dr. Gumperson announced his now famous law and was able to make a series of predictions later confirmed by other scientists working in the field. Some of the better known of these include the following:

That after a raise in salary, you will have less money at the end of each month than you had before.

That the girl at the race track who bets according to the color of the jockey's shirt will pick winners more often than the man who studied the past performance of every horse on the program.

That children have more energy after a hard day of play than after a good night's sleep.

That the person who buys the most raffle tickets has the best chance of winning.

That a child can be exposed to mumps for weeks without catching them but can catch them without exposure the day before the family goes on vacation.

That the dishwasher will be down the evening you give a dinner party for 10 people.

That good parking places are always on the other side of the street.

Dr. Gumperson served as consultant to the armed services during World War II and evolved a procedure whereby the recruit knew about a given subject, the better chance he had of receiving an assignment involving the other subject.

There is no knowing to what other glittering heights Dr. Gumperson's genius would have led him if it not been for his untimely death in 1947. Strolling along a highway one evening, he was paying the pedestrian rate while talking to the left, facing traffic, was struck down from behind by a Hillman-Minx driven by a British visitor hugging the right side of the road.

RIGHT AT HOME - Santa Claus came early in about 60 homes here, with the help of the Jaycees and the cooperation of parents. Here, he stops for a photo with Maureen and Andrea Eldred, 12 Ridge st. Teachers Will Be Paid Year-round

All teachers will be paid 26 times a year - once every two weeks the year 'round.

That decision resulted from meetings between school officials and the town manager, with Treasurer Miss Anna Greeley.

Payment of teachers on a 52-week basis had been asked by the Teachers Association. Few of the staff currently are paid that way - most receive compensation for the school year.

Agreement on the two-week payment came after town officials pointed out that it might be necessary to put on an extra secretary to handle the volume of checks currently going through the office, without any of the additional work resulting from the 52-week change-over.

MIDSHIPMAN PROUT HOME ON LEAVE

U.S. Naval Academy Midshipman Fourth Class James G. Prout III, son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Prout Jr., 17 William st., is among 2,000 Midshipmen of the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., who have left to spend their annual two-week Christmas leave with their parents.

Each of the Midshipmen is enrolled in a rigid course covering naval science, seamanship, military indoctrination and normal scholastic achievement.

The four-year course leads to a bachelor of science degree and a commission in the military service. To gain experience that will aid them when they are commissioned, Midshipmen take part in training cruises during the summer months when they are not attending classes. The cruises take them to various parts of the world.

Poll Shows Teachers Still Oppose Merit

School Committee Chairman Robert McIntyre claims that elementary school teachers are the ones opposed to merit rating.

He based his remarks on a poll, in which 106 teachers voted on merit. Five others said they wanted to wait, and vote on a specific merit plan.

Of the 106, 48 favored retention of merit and 58 opposed it.

In the elementary grades, 48 opposed merit and only 18 wanted it; while in secondary schools, the vote was 30 for merit and eight against it.

Mr. McIntyre acknowledged that nearly 100 teachers did not vote in the poll.

MISS SU

Christmas is sure to be happy this year for nearly 300 underprivileged little girls in the Boston area, as the result of activities of Miss Susan Kenney, 16 Johnson rd., and other leaders in the Service Organization at Wellesley College.

Before leaving the campus of Wellesley for her own holiday, Miss Kenney coordinated efforts in her dormitory to make and fill some two dozen bright red stockings, stuffed with toys and trinkets. Each of the 13 residence halls selected a different settlement house to be the recipient of its stocking gifts.

Throughout the year members of Wellesley's Service Organization do volunteer work at various social agencies and hospitals, and every spring they entertain girls from settlement house groups at party on the campus.

The official representative of the Service Organization in her dormitory, Miss Kenney is the daughter of Mrs. John W. Kenney. A graduate of Andover High School, she now is in her sophomore year at Wellesley where she is treasurer of the Classical Club; last spring she appeared in the Greeley Department's production of the classical tragedy "Alceste," presented in the original language.

MISS SUSAN KENNEY

Christmas is sure to be happier this year for nearly 300 underprivileged little girls in the Boston area, as the result of activities of Miss Susan Kenney, 16 Johnson rd., and other leaders in the Service Organization at Wellesley College.

Before leaving the campus in Wellesley for her own holiday, Miss Kenney coordinated efforts in her dormitory to make and fill some two dozen bright red stockings, stuffed with toys and trinkets. Each of the 13 residence halls selected a different settlement house to be the recipient of its stocking gifts.

Throughout the year members of Wellesley's Service Organization do volunteer work at various social agencies and hospitals, and every spring they entertain girls from settlement house groups at a party on the campus.

The official representative of the Service Organization in her dormitory, Miss Kenney is the daughter of Mrs. John W. Kenney. A graduate of Andover High School, she now is in her sophomore year at Wellesley where she is treasurer of the Classical Club; last spring she appeared in the Greek Department's production of the classical tragedy "Alceste," presented in the original language.

Better Signal Is Achieved

A two-way radio that sends its signal further, by cutting it in half, has been announced by Raytheon Company.

Using an advanced transmission technique called single sideband, the new radio is designed for long-range two-way communication between fixed or mobile stations and can operate from standard auto, truck or household power.

No larger than a table radio, the unit has a selection of six channels in the frequency range of 1.6 to 16 megacycles.

The new single sideband technique bisects the standard AM bandwidth, creating two narrow bands, each capable of carrying a separate transmission.

The boost in signal strength that results when half the bandwidth is transmitted by the same energy is likened to the extra push given a stream of water when the end of a garden hose is partially closed off.

By using more of the available energy in the actual transmission, the new technique cuts a system's size and weight to fit easily under a car's dashboard, doubles the signal strength, practically eliminates fading, and reduces external noise interference and battery drain.

Rodents Get Hungry Too; Eat Bark Off Trees, Shrubs

Young trees and valued shrubs require protection during the winter from damaging field mice, chipmunks and other rodents.

These rodents, says Dr. Edward J. Duda, burrow tunnels beneath the snow at ground level, and by chewing, girdle the bark of trunks and stems. Spreading yew and juniper, hemlock and other evergreens, as well as young deciduous and fruit trees, have been extensively damaged when snows linger long and rodents become hungry.

There have been cases where mice traveled over crust of snow two feet or more deep and girdled young trees far above ground. Repellants now on the market will discourage this feeding. Enclosing the lower trunk of young trees with a fine-mesh wire is good practice. Home owners often pack the snowfall by tramping around the base of a small tree. This will eliminate air pockets and dishearten a rodent from tunneling.

Mulches can be havens for mice too. These should start six inches to a foot from the trunk of shrubs.

PRESTO - It's almost like waving the magic wand, the way houses disappear. This home was standing one day - only a few hours later there was little to indicate that the home ever existed. That's been the story along route 495, as wrecking crews moved in and demolished properties taken by the state. The four photos, taken by photographer Al Cole, indicate the four quick steps of the wreckers, and their results.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Stewart and family of Thompsville, Conn., spent the Christmas holiday with Mr. and Mrs. William Stewart of High Plain rd.

A well-attended Christmas Eve Carol service was held in the West Church at 7:30 Christmas Eve.

Dr. Hugh Penney brought a message and a most delightful part of the service was the solo "O, Holy Night" sung by William Gilford baritone soloist of the West Church Choir. The Junior and Senior choirs also sang several numbers.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Another Merit Plan

A merit plan, by any other name, is still a plan supposedly rewarding special ability.

Thus super-maximum payments — sounding nothing like merit at all — actually are payments for exceptional teachers.

School Committeeman John Sullivan has suggested adoption of such a plan, starting in September, 1963. Details of the plan are summarized in a news story elsewhere in this newspaper.

There are, in our viewpoint, several areas where the proposal needs revision before it meets the requirements of a true merit plan.

First, merit is an incentive; is the suggested $300 enough of an incentive? We think not. The plan suggests payment of that amount, subject to review and the possibility that it will be taken away. But $300 yearly is slightly less than $6 weekly, gross, and probably a lot less than that when taxes get finished. So there isn't much incentive to earn this amount, nor much worry about losing it.

A limitation on the number of teachers who can earn merit is debatable. If many receive merit pay, there is the obvious criticism that too many are getting the money, that it is just a salary increase in disguise. If too few receive it, however, the real purpose of merit is lost. Because then deserving teachers are left out simply because they can't fit into a percentage of the eligible whole. This, contrary to incentive, is real discouragement.

Experience, we emphasize, is not always the single factor upon which all others must wait. The plan calls for eligibility to begin at the 11th step of the schedule. But many teachers prove their exceptional ability before that time. It isn't fair, nor is incentive provided, if they must wait on a longevity clause.

We would rather see the financial reward made greater — perhaps $500 at a minimum — and have the teacher become eligible whenever the superintendent decides that the individual is truly exceptional.

This wouldn't probably happen in the first year or two, unless the teacher comes to the system with a lot of experience in other communities. But at whatever level, the superlative teacher should be recognized.

We don't believe there should be any restrictions as to number — but the tone of the plan should be such that the school department would make this award only for demonstrated exceptional ability. No one should be left out for the simple reason that the percentages are not flexible.

Summing up, we would favor the plan if: payments are increased to $500; restrictions as to salary schedule steps are removed; that all teachers are eligible, based entirely on the administrator's decision as to ability. We favor retaining the review clause — once a teacher is judged to be exceptional, we should maintain some check on maintenance of that standing.

And above all, let us make the plan work, based on the teacher's ability as a teacher, nothing else.

Happy New Year

The year 1963 holds a lot in store for each of us — and we want to take this opportunity to wish, for all of you, the very best of good fortune.

During that 12 months, we'll endeavor to serve you as we have in the past — full news coverage of events within the town; lively editorials on local subjects; in short, we'll do our level best to keep each issue of the Townsman up to the high level you have come to expect.

Meanwhile, happy holiday; drive safely; we'll see you in the new year.

Colonial Architecture

Colonial design has become a fetish with some residents; we hear nothing else, whenever there is a discussion of possible construction.

But colonial apparently is not the desirable thing it seems to be, when construction actually begins.

The town builds fine, modern schools — all the while giving lip service to colonial.

We note, too, that some fine looking buildings have been erected at Phillips Academy in recent years. They are not colonial — but they are pleasing to many eyes, anyway.

SUSIE'S SONNETS

by Sylvia Neilson

AFTER-THOUGHT

Through the bustle, through the rush,
Did you have the time to hush
To the music of the spheres
Audible to childish ears?

It's about time that we stopped ourselves, collectively, from coupling colonial with construction at every turn in the road. Let's be aware of the fact that even the municipality is not actually following its own advice; that other types of architecture are desirable and functional; that Andover does not now have a completely colonial architecture, and will not in the future.

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago - December, 1887

The Selectmen have prohibited sliding or coasting on streets and public ways. They promise to arrest, prosecute and fine anyone defying their edict.

A not-so-funny series of events took place here and out-of-town last Saturday. One of the railroad coaches, while turning into Mrs. Jonas Spaulding's yard on Bartlett st., was upset. All the passengers thus lost their train; the next train, having met with an accident in Haverhill, didn't arrive at all. The passengers were obliged to take a way train, and the engine of that one broke down in Malden, so that the passengers lost their train connections in Boston.

Owen Sweeney, a man in the employ of Hartwell P. Abbott, was found frozen to death in a field near the old Catholic Church Monday forenoon.

We are happy to learn that inmates of the poor farm were not forgotten on Christmas Day. Little Alice Bell, with her father, went there and gave them candy and an orange apiece.

50 Years Ago - December, 1912

Dr. W. Dacre Walker has returned to Andover after a short trip to Panama.

Peter Dugan of New Haven, Conn., is spending a few days at the home of his parents on Highland rd.

The work of sewing in the public schools will be discontinued and cooking substituted, beginning the first of February. This is in accordance with the new system of teaching each subject for half the school year.

Miss Katherine Hardy of West Andover, who has been teaching in the North District schoolhouse, is taking a post-graduate course at the Pynchard School. Her place has been taken by Miss Riley of Lawrence.

P. Simeone and Co. has installed a large soda fountain in their fruit store.

Ralph Nicoll and James Buss saved Thomas Daly Jr. from drowning last Saturday, when he fell through the ice.

Fred C. Wilson and Clarence Auty are on the honor roll at Phillips Academy.

25 Years Ago - December, 1937

William B. Cheever, who steps down as tax collector this March, is creating a lot of excitement by doing so. Several candidates have been rumored, and one, J. Lewis Smith, already has declared. There will be four School Committee seats up for grabs, one for Selectman and another on the Board of Public Works.

The driver of a car involved in the fatality last Saturday at High and Haverhill sts., has blamed steamed-up windows for the accident. He told police that the combination of a heavy downpour, closed windows and a heater running at full speed resulted in plenty of steam on the inside of the windows. He was held for Grand Jury action, after appearing in District Court.

The Rev. Albert C. Morris will be formally instituted as rector of Christ Church next Sunday evening by Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, D. D., bishop of the Diocese of Massachusetts.

The total school budget for the new year will be $191,528, an increase of about $6,000 over a year ago. Most of that amount results from a town meeting decision last March to put pays back where they were before the depression-caused reduction. Now, the town must pay the full year's wages instead of the part-year pays voted in March. Frederic S. Boutwell has been elected treasurer of the West Parish Church for the 48th annual term.

10 Years Ago - December, 1952

The biggest postal volume ever recorded here was reached during the Christmas season, according to Postmaster Stephen A. Boland.

A sleet storm started Monday and continued into Tuesday, creating bad driving conditions. Only about two inches of snow accumulated, but the light, freezing rain was disastrous.

James M. Gorrie was appointed a permanent patrolman by the Selectmen, meeting Monday night. He has been a reserve since 1949.

Tyler Rubber Co. has received a federal contract amounting to $254,000, to supply rubber boots for the Army.

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman:

"I welcome the chance to compliment our School Committee for taking a sound approach to the thorny merit question. From the town's point of view, the right approach starts where real merit is — at the top. In getting this new plan underway, we can afford everything except mistakes of judgment at either the policy-making or the administrative levels.

"I think the new merit plan has one serious weakness: it is still plagued with the old 'longevity' feature. How can we ever expect to attract and hold brilliant young teachers if it is going to take us a dozen years to recognize and reward exceptional teachers? Competing school systems may not be as indifferent or myopic to quality as we.

"Fortunately, it is still possible to correct this defect. Were we to award merit not to 20 percent of those with 12 or more years of experience, but to some 10 percent of the larger number of teachers with (say) five or more years, this town would at long last be in a position to build an exceptional teaching staff for the future.

"Pre-requisite to the proper functioning of a genuine merit system is the clear realization on the part of our administrators that their days as mere ex-teachers

Great Books

During this Christmas recess, members of the Great Books Discussion Group are preparing the reading for the first meeting of 1963, Jan. 8, at 7:30 o'clock. At this time, members will make plans for the readings to follow, in which there are a number of possibilities.

Films in Organizations

Chairmen of the program committees of local groups are reminded that the Memorial Hall Library has a film loaning service which may fit into their plans as their organizations look ahead for the coming months. There is a charge for the use of films, all of which are sound, many of which are in color. The running time varies from nine minutes to thirty-five minutes, with the average around twenty.

As a sampling of the films that will be on hand at various times during the remainder of the season, here are a few subjects: Byrd in the North Pole, Romance of Cheesee, Historic New England, Strike in Town, Art and Life in Italy, The Face of Lincoln, Cord, Wonderland, South America, Nautilus - Arctic Passage, Autumn in New Hampshire, Medieval World, Renoir, Trips, The Moon, Painting The Clouds, Landscape, The Weather.

All who are planning to use films in their club programs are reminded that it is necessary to reserve them well in advance. These groups which have no projectionist may borrow the library's equipment, but are asked to have a trained projectionist to handle the showing.

Staff Changes

Mrs. Frank Hart, a member of the Memorial Hall Library staff for nine years, has ended her service to Andover readers. Mrs. Hart worked in the audio-visual department of the library, and has been in close contact with many of the club chairmen, teachers and students who made use of the materials which she handled.

She and Mr. Hart, who recently retired, are spending some time in Maryland with their son.

Mrs. Cleveland Gilcrest has joined the staff of the library, and will assume many of Mrs. Hart's duties.

Story Hour

The theme for the coming story hour is "The Carl Sandburg Story Hour". All boys and girls are invited to be present.

"Once an improved initial plan is solidly consolidated by the creation of a first elite corps, we can expand the incentive program by broadening its scope."

Schools Bring In Funds, But Can't Spend The Money

Schools don't always have to cost the town money - for example, the school department will return an estimated $224,485.23 to the town coffers in the next year.

Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erickson, in preparing the estimated receipts for the School Committee, noted that the money goes into free cash, and can not be spent by the department.

The largest single item is the reimbursement from the state - $147,017.14.

Also received from the state are funds for transportation - $43,195.95; for special classes, $14,521.66.

The National Defense Education act of 1958 will provide $3,642.61 for science and $175.75 for testing and guidance.

Vocational school reimbursements come to $1,430 for evening practical arts and $1,329 for industrial and trade schools.

Tuition charged pupils in the senior and junior high, $878.75; summer school, $7,500; state-wards, $2,894.35.

Other receipts are estimated to include $1,425 from hall rentals; payment for lost books, shop supplies, etc., $475.

Garbage disposal has been adopted - not without some headaches - and refuse disposal has been shelved for the time being.

Recreation areas have been expanded - only last week two sections of land near Pomp's Pond were seized by the Selectmen.

Planning for public buildings has been continuing, and plans for the new town hall, fire and police stations have been presented to the town for scrutiny.

The decision to adopt the plan was more of a holding effort than it was a final step towards getting the super-maximum written into law for the coming year.

Members indicated that many areas will require discussion, before final action is taken.

School Stamp Programs Offer Thrift Lesson

Once a week when the school rings, it's Stamp Day for many of the pupils throughout the county. They add their U.S. Savings stamps to their regular school books and set off to purchase their books in America.

School savings plans are in operation from kindergarten through high school, in public and private schools across the nation. They are operated either by the pupils themselves or by the parents, or by a combination of both. And, the methods of collecting the stamps may vary, all school savings programs are alike in that they offer simple and effective methods of teaching boys and girls the important benefits of regular saving.

The actual purchase of the stamps takes surprisingly little classroom time. Some schools collect the stamps right in the classroom, while others set up a central stamp booth located conveniently for all the classes. It is amazing how far a small amount of money will go in teaching the youngsters. While the stamps available in denominations of 25¢, 50¢, $1.00 or $5.00 - the expensive stamps can be just as effective as the highest priced. The youngster is encouraged to use regular purchases.

This first-hand lesson in saving is an important part of any child's education. It teaches a youngster how to spend his money wisely, how to plan savings with a definite purpose. In addition, teachers use the school savings program as a basis for practical classroom exercises in arithmetic, bookkeeping, studies, government, and history.

Cookingham Named
As Fund Chairman

HOWARD C. COOKINGHAM

A Hopkinton businessman has been selected for a volunteer position in which he will assist Northeastern University in its $40,000,000 Diamond Anniversary Development Fund, it was announced by Dr. Asa S. Knowles, N.U. president. Howard C. Cookingham, 79 Frankland rd., Hopkinton, has agreed to serve as zone chairman for the Northeast Area which includes Andover, Haverhill, Lawrence, Newburyport, in the Alumni phase of the expansion program. More than 34,000 N.U. alumni will be contacted in the national program, which will enable Northeastern to nearly double its academic facilities and triple the size of its faculty by 1973, its 75th anniversary.

Cookingham, who received a B.S. degree in engineering from Northeastern in 1934, is vice president and New England manager of the D. H. Litter Co., Inc., Ballardvale.

hear about prospective rentals in a "sample" new building in an Urban Renewal area; financial aspects of moving into new quarters, and the amount of time this might take, will be covered; guaranteed government loans will be described, and other methods of financing discussed.

Urban Renewal executive Ernest N. Hall described the meeting as being the final, make-or-break session.

If there is significant interest in the meeting, and enthusiasm following it, then Urban Renewal has a chance. But he also indicated that a lack of interest in attending the meeting probably would spell out defeat for local participation.

This has been called the key to obtaining favorable action on Urban Renewal. Housing Authority members themselves have stated that it is essential to have this local support, via local re-development.

Hall said the meeting will first hear a report from the sub-committee. Members, whose names are affixed to an invitational letter, include Wallace M. Haselton, Robert Jeffries, W. R. Hill, C. Lincoln Giles, Stanley Swanton, Joseph Doherty and Douglas Pitman.

The meeting is not meant to be a hearing, and there has not been any call for public attendance. Rather, Hall said the purpose is to acquaint merchants with all of the opportunities available.

Then they will be asked to help form the realty trust, which would take over re-development in the Urban Renewal area.

Will Need 14 Teachers

At least 14 new teachers probably will be hired before next September, plus however many replacements must be found.

School Supt. Edward I. Erickson has told the School Committee that six teachers are needed at the High School; the Junior High needs three and, actually, 4 1/2 are required at the Henry C. Sanborn School.

At the High School, the teachers are needed for English, Social Studies, Commercial, Math, Science, and one half each in physical education and French. The new Junior High teachers would be handling a math-industrial arts combination, English-Latin combined and two part time posts — physical education and science.

At the Sanborn School, where growth continues, there is a need for another kindergarten teacher for half a day, and for teachers in the first, second, third and sixth grades.

An additional teacher is also needed in the special classes, so that the trainable and educatable can be separated.

The cost of new teachers, for the September-December period in 1963, will be $31,900, according to present estimates.

Davey Sets Record Straight On Vote

School Committee member Vincent P. Davey is upset because a recent Townsman news story appeared, to him, to confuse his stand on the creation of a new job — that of supervisor of general services.

Davey emphasized that he was absent from the original meeting, at which this position was set up. He announced his opposition to the job at the next meeting of the Committee, and his feelings were recorded in the minutes of the meeting. The original vote creating the job was not affected, however.

BIRD LURE

Winter birds can be lured to the home grounds by planting berry-bearing shrubs and trees.

Dr. Edward J. Duda reports that redbirds find favor in juniper berries, yew berries and seeds of sumac. An occasional robin that winters in the north feeds on these berries too.

The cedar waxwing is partial to the black berries of Japanese honeysuckle and the Chinese cork tree. The pine grosbeak will feed on the berries of California privet, when available.

Downy and hairy woodpeckers are sometimes enticed to a terrace by an offering of suet. Woodpeckers are valued winter friends, for they also dig out bark beetles from trees. But the destructive sapsucker is hardly a friend. It can damage trees.

Go To Court For House Breaks

Three local youths, two of juveniles, will be arraigned District Court Monday, charged with larceny and breaking entering in the nighttime.

Sgt. Robert Deyermund said boys identified 16 homes in community as having been entered over the past few months. But strangely, Sgt. Deyermund said only three reports of breaks had been received. The other homeowners either didn't know didn't report the breaks, he added.

Alan R. Mower, 17, 138 Elm who already has been held for Grand Jury on a North Andover police complaint, will appear District Court Monday.
